About the Artist:

Hirokazu Fukawa is an installation artist who works individually and collaboratively with “Nuclear Café” and “Nuclear Cabaret,” international interdisciplinary project units. He explores ideas and seeks proper expressions through drawings, installation, sculpture, video, sounds, photography, and performance, and enjoys learning a new field.

About the Work:

Fukawa works on both personal experiences and public issues based on research he conducts. These research processes give him better in-depth understanding of issues, and the time spent researching allows him to develop concepts and works of art. Since March 2011, he has been working on issues of consequence of the nuclear meltdown in Fukushima, Japan.

Where to Experience/Purchase:

Fukawa’s work can be seen and purchased through his website: www.fukawa.org.
